About Koala AI

Koala AI is a comprehensive AI-powered content creation platform that combines four powerful tools under one subscription: KoalaWriter, KoalaChat, KoalaImages, and KoalaMagnets.

Built specifically for SEO professionals and content creators, it goes beyond basic AI writing by incorporating real-time data, automatic SERP analysis, and intelligent internal linking.

What makes Koala AI particularly impressive is its focus on creating content that actually ranks. Unlike generic AI writers, KoalaWriter automatically analyses search engine results for your target keywords, incorporates relevant entities, and optimises your articles for SEO from the ground up.

The platform has already generated over 12 million internal links for its users—a massive time-saver that would otherwise require hours of manual work.

The platform supports both GPT-5 and Claude 4, giving you access to the latest AI models. You'll find everything from bulk article creation and WordPress integration to Amazon affiliate article generation and AI-powered image creation.

Whether you're running a personal blog or managing content for multiple clients, Koala AI scales with your needs whilst maintaining quality output.

Users particularly love the platform's natural writing styles, outline control, and the ability to embed YouTube videos and AI-generated images automatically. It's genuinely designed by people who understand content marketing, not just AI technology.

Why This Black Friday Sale Is Worth It

Let me break down the numbers, because they're genuinely impressive. During the Koala AI Black Friday Sale 2025, all annual plans receive a 40% discount off regular pricing.

But here's where it gets better—you can stack an additional 15% off using the coupon code WPDEALSEXPERT, bringing your total savings to 55%.

Take the Professional plan, for instance. Normally priced at $49/month ($588 annually), you'll pay just $29/month during the sale when billed annually—that's $348 instead of $588. Apply the WPDEALSEXPERT coupon, and you'll save even more.

The Essentials plan drops from $9/month to just $7/month annually, perfect if you're just starting out.

Here's what makes this particularly valuable: annual subscribers receive all their credits upfront with no expiration for an entire year.

Unlike monthly plans where unused credits vanish at month's end, you're getting flexibility to use your word count and chat messages whenever you need them.

If you're planning content sprints, seasonal campaigns, or just want breathing room, this structure is brilliant.

This is also Koala AI's only sale of the year. They don't run quarterly promotions or random discount days—this Black Friday event is genuinely the single opportunity to lock in these prices for 12 months.

Given that the platform has released over 100 improvements and features in recent months (including the game-changing automatic internal linking and Deep Research features), you're investing in a tool that's actively evolving.

For context, I've seen plenty of AI writing tools come and go. Most offer generic discounts year-round that make "special sales" feel meaningless.

Koala AI's approach is different—they maintain consistent value throughout the year and reward annual commitment with substantial savings during this one event.
