Training & Presentation Skills

This two-day interactive programme is designed to give new and experienced trainers the skills and confidence to deliver effective and engaging training sessions.

You will learn to plan and develop creative training to meet learning outcomes, recognise different learning styles and tailor your training accordingly, and develop an engaging presentation style.

You will have the opportunity to demonstrate and reflect on your training skills through a live session. Please note that there are pre-course tasks to complete for this course. The afternoon of day one involves self-directed development. Own devices can be brought in for additional support with applications.

Cost: £300
