

Transparency Statement

Our commitment

We're committed to being as open and transparent as we can be. We support an 'ask us anything' culture but please be aware that we're not able to share information which could compromise our legal, commercial or contractual obligations.

We're open about our vision and purpose, how we provide our services, spending and performance. We provide all the information listed in this statement on our website and we update it regularly. We can provide this information in other languages and formats. And, we'll review the information we provide each year taking account of any requests we've had for other information.

The legal requirements

Aster isn't a "public authority" as defined by Section 3 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 so the requirements under the Act for public authorities to share information don't apply to us. But, we're still committed to helping our stakeholders understand our business, so we'll take account of the information we're regularly asked for when we review and update our website.
