CONVERSATIONAL ENGLISH - ADVANCED

Descripción

Curso de Conversational English, enfocado a mejorar la comunicación oral en inglés en situaciones cotidianas y profesionales, reforzando la fluidez, la comprensión y la confianza al hablar.

Objetivos

- » The objective of this course is to enable learners to use English fluently in informal and formal situations. On completing the course, learners will have seen ways to express opinions, describe feelings as well as studying examples of how to defend arguments using more advanced vocabulary and structures.
- » The first two units of this course review the language necessary to be able to introduce people and oneself as well as hold conversations with peers and friends in English about the most common topics. The exercises review some essential grammatical structures needed to converse with confidence, tell anecdotes and be aware of the differences between formal and informal language. The conversation units also include interactive classes where the learner will have the opportunity to use the language covered in order to give their response to different questions.
- » The third and fourth units focus on starting, outlining and ending presentations. Learners will revise expressions to use during these different parts of presentations, as well as to deal with questions and refer to visual aids such as graphs and charts. There are also examples of different public speaking situations with more useful expressions.
- » The final unit deals with the language used to debate topics and provides examples of people debating in different situations. The last section also shows a range of language to deal with this type of interaction appropriately, as well as including an interactive class to review the structures presented.
