

PROJECT FORUM

21st April 2026

Business Design Centre

London

About the event

- There is a gap in the events calendar in London for companies selling products and services to Project Management Professionals.
- There is an appetite for face-to-face interaction and events which provide an opportunity to learn and network.
- Project Forum is a new and unique event for companies operating within the Project Management industry to proactively engage with Key Industry Professionals.
- A one-day event comprising an exhibition, round table “birds of a feather” and seminars in Spring 2026.
- This format will allow you access to visitors with a unique opportunity for face-to-face contact and networking.
- Organised by the House of PMO – the leading professional membership organisation for people working within the industry.
- Delivered by a team with over 15 years experience in delivering Project Management Events.

The Opportunity

Project Forum provides an exclusive opportunity for sponsors to attend a one-day exhibition and network with key professionals within the Project Management industry and an opportunity to get closer to and most importantly learn from your buyers

The event will feature

- Main exhibition area
- Industry-focused roundtable discussions ('Birds of a Feather' style)
- Two seminar areas seating 100 delegates delivering key industry topics

This event provides a unique platform for sponsors to;

- Showcase their brand
- Connect with decision-makers
- Engage with a targeted audience.

The Venue

- Business Design Centre – London
- Central location
- Good transport links
- Exhibition floor with centrally located “birds of a feather” table space
- Balcony space with seminar zones
- Café area for networking

Birds of a Feather

Creates space for shared exploration where visitors and exhibitors learn from each other's experiences and create new ideas together.

Selected by exhibitors based on current trends, hot topics, overcoming challenges in PPM and other compelling subjects for those in PPM today

Attendees –

- The event will provide attendees an exclusive opportunity to talk directly with businesses and fellow visitors about shared interests and specific business challenges

Exhibitors

- An opportunity to directly facilitate open and informal discussions and guide visitors on how your business offering can help overcome their specific challenges
- Help better understand customer needs and pain points through direct conversation.
