7. Definitions

7.1 Physical abuse

Physical abuse might involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning, scalding, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm might also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces illness in a child.

7.2 Emotional Abuse

Emotional abuse is the persistent emotional maltreatment of a person. With children it can cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It might involve conveying to people that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It might feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These might include interactions that are beyond the child's developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child from participating in normal social interaction and taking decisions and making choices they would be entitled to make if they were not vulnerable. It might involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It might involve serious bullying causing people frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of people. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it might occur alone. Emotional abuse can also include threats and stalking.

7.3 Sexual Abuse

Sexual abuse involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, including prostitution, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities might involve physical contact, including penetrative (e.g. rape, buggery or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts.

7.4 Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE)

Child sexual exploitation is a type of sexual abuse. Children in exploitative situations and relationships receive something such as gifts, money or affection as a result of performing sexual acts on others, or others performing sexual acts on them.

Children or young people may be tricked into believing they're in a loving, consensual relationship. They might be invited to parties and given drugs and alcohol. They may also be groomed online.

Some children and young people are trafficked into or within the UK for the purpose of sexual exploitation. Sexual exploitation can also happen to young people in gangs.

We offer online training courses for staff that cover the exploitation of children – be it sexual or criminal:

PACE - UK CSE Keep them safe

Virtual College CSE Keep Them Safe

Pace UK - Child Criminal Exploitation, County Lines

We also point staff to the following website.

7.5 Neglect

Neglect is the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of their health or development. Neglect might occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Neglect might involve a parent or carer failing to provide adequate food and clothing or shelter including exclusion from home or abandonment; failing to protect a child in their care from physical and emotional harm or danger; failure to ensure adequate supervision including the use of inadequate care-takers, or the failure to ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It might also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

7.6 Domestic Violence

The impact of domestic violence can go beyond actual physical violence, to involve emotional abuse, the destruction of property, isolation from friends, family or sources of support, control over decision making, money, transport or telephone and can include the impact of witnessing violence. A child who lives in a household where domestic violence is a feature of family life, has been abused by these life experiences.

7.7 Stalking and Harassment – Physical and Cyber

Stalking is: "A pattern of fixated and obsessive behaviour which is repeated, persistent, intrusive, and causes fear of violence or engenders alarm and distress in the victim". It is also a criminal offence.

Harassment is: "Unwanted behaviour from someone else that makes one feel distressed, humiliated or threatened".

Examples include: unwanted phone calls, texts, letters, emails; visits – standing outside someone's home, repeatedly driving past; abuse – both verbal and online; damage to someone's property, falsely making allegations.

More information can be found at the following websites:

PEOPLESAFE - guidance on Stalking

National Stalking Helpline

The National Stalking Helpline number is: 0808 802 0300.

7.8 Female Genital Mutilation

FGM comprises all procedures involving partial or total removal of the external female genitalia or other injury to the female genital organs for non-medical reasons (female genital cutting, circumcision, initiation).

There is a DUTY to all professionals to act to safeguard girls at risk.

For further information refer to:

Glos Take a Stand - FGM

7.9 Forced Marriage

A forced marriage is where one or both people do not (or in cases of children or people with learning disabilities, cannot) consent to the marriage and pressure or abuse is used.

For more information see:

Gov guidance on Forced Marriage

Glos Take a Stand - Forced Marriage

7.10 Terrorism

The Crown Prosecution Service says: "Terrorism is the use of threat of action, both in and outside of the UK, designed to influence any international government organisation or to intimidate the public. It must also be for the purpose of advancing a political, religious, racial or ideological cause."

Committing, planning, assisting and even collecting information on how to commit terrorist acts are all crimes under British terrorism legislation.

For more information see:

Government information on Terrorism

7.11 Radicalisation

This is the process by which an individual or group comes to adopt increasingly extreme political, social, or religious ideals and aspirations that reject or undermine the status quo or reject and/or undermine contemporary ideas and expressions of freedom of choice. The threats to children and young people take many forms, not only the high profile incidents of those travelling to countries such as Syria and Iraq to fight, but on a much broader perspective also. The internet, in particular social media, is being used as a channel to promote and engage extreme ideals. Often they promote and glorify violence, and can attract and influence children and, in extreme cases, radicalise them. Research concludes that children can be trusting and not necessarily appreciate bias that can lead to them being drawn into these groups and adopt these extremist views. When viewing what would be considered shocking and extreme content by the majority, they may become inured to it and interpret it as normal.

For further information see:

Government information on Radicalisation

7.12 Prevent – The Prevent Duty

In order to fulfil the Prevent duty, staff need to be able to identify children who may be vulnerable to radicalisation, and know what to do when they are identified. Staff can also build pupils' resistance to radicalisation by promoting fundamental British values and enabling them to challenge extremist views. It is important to emphasise that the Prevent duty is not intended to stop pupils debating controversial issues but to understand the risks associated with terrorism and develop the knowledge and skills to be able to challenge extremist arguments. - 8. Practice Guidance
- 8.1 Guidance on listening to allegations:
 - 8.1.1 Do not promise to keep a secret; you have a duty to share concerns of abuse. There is some debate about what the term 'confidentiality' means so do not get hung up about it. Assure the person that you will only inform your manager and/or the police if necessary.
 - 8.1.2 Listen to what is being said, without displaying shock or disbelief.
 - 8.1.3 Accept what is said.
 - 8.1.4 Reassure the child, but only as far as is honest, don't make promises you may not be able to keep e.g. don't say 'Everything will be alright now', 'You'll never have to see that person again'.
 - 8.1.5 Do reassure and alleviate guilt, if the child refers to it. For example, you could say, 'You're not to blame'.
 - 8.1.6 Do not interrogate the child; it is not your responsibility to investigate.
 - 8.1.7 Do not ask leading questions (e.g. Did he touch your private parts?)
 - 8.1.8 Do not ask the child to repeat the information to another member of staff.
 - 8.1.9 Explain what you have to do next and who you have to talk to.
 - 8.1.10 Report to your manager or on call person as soon as you can after the conversation, regardless of the time of day. That person will inform the designated officer who will make decisions about how to report it.
 - 8.1.11 Write up the conversation as soon as possible afterwards.
 - 8.1.12 Record the date, time, and place, any non-verbal behaviour and the words used by the child (do not paraphrase).
 - 8.1.13 Record statements and observable things rather than interpretations or assumptions.
- 8.2 Allegations Management

If a professional has a concern about another professional or volunteer where they have:

- 8.2.1 Behaved inappropriately in a way that has harmed or might have harmed a child or
- 8.3.2 Possibly committed a criminal offence against or related to a child
- 8.4.3 Behaved towards a child in a way that indicates s/he is unsuitable to work with children then these concerns should be dealt with by reporting to the on call manager of another manager or director as soon as you can. The Allegations Management Procedure must be followed Appendix 1 to this policy.
- 8.3 Guidance on Whistleblowing
 - 8.3.1 In the Company's Induction child protection training, staff are made aware of the need to be vigilant regarding the behaviour of other staff and professionals.
 - 8.3.2 The trainer ensures that staff are aware of signs to look out for such as:
 - Favouritism
 - √ Taking an individual service user away from the group
 - Inappropriate touching
 - √ Very close relationship
 - Anything that makes them feel uncomfortable
 - 8.3.3 Staff are required to have a duty of care to the child which might involve them talking to a supervisor or manager about their concerns regarding another member of staff. They are protected by the Whistleblowing policy.

9. Monitoring

Child Protection and Safeguarding issues are monitored monthly at Board Meetings.
