

Safeguarding Policy

1. POLICY STATEMENT

This policy has been developed to ensure that all staff in The Procurement Academy are working together to safeguard and promote the welfare of children, young people and vulnerable adults.

This policy describes the management systems and arrangements in place to create and maintain a safe learning environment for all our Apprentices, Learners, and staff. It identifies actions that should be taken to redress any concerns about child safety and welfare including protecting Apprentices and Learners and staff from extremist views, vocal or active, which are opposed to fundamental British values. All opinions or behaviours which are contrary to these fundamental values and the ethos of the organisation will be vigorously challenged.

Philip Chippindale has the ultimate responsibility for safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and in his absence then his deputy is Alex Chippindale.

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people goes beyond implementing basic child protection procedures. It is an integral part of all activities, functions, culture, and ethos of The Procurement Academy.

In accordance with guidance set out in 'Working together to Safeguard Children, 'Keeping Children Safe in Education – September 2024' and 'The Prevent Duty', The Procurement Academy will work in partnership with other organisations where appropriate to identify any concerns about child welfare and take action to address them

2. SCOPE

The Procurement Academy aims to create and maintain a safe learning environment where all apprentices, Learners and staff feel safe, secure, and valued and know they will be listened to and taken seriously. Our academy is committed to the principles outlined in ‘Working together to Safeguard Children – July 2018’, ‘Keeping Children Safe in Education – September 2024’ and ‘The Prevent Duty’ and implements policies, practices and procedures which promote safeguarding and the emotional and physical well-being of children, young people, and staff.

The Procurement Academy is committed to supporting the delivery of effective early help through multi-agency working, a consistent application of the thresholds and the use of a single agency assessment.

3. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

The statutory inquiry into the death of Victoria Climbié and the first joint Chief Inspectors report of safeguarding children highlighted the lack of priority status given to safeguarding. The government response to these findings included the Green Paper Every Child Matters and the provisions in the Children’s Acts 2004. Section 11 of the Children’s Act 2004 places a duty on all agencies to make arrangements to safeguard and promote the welfare of children. No single profession can have a full picture of a child’s needs and circumstances and, if children and families are to receive the right help at the right time, everyone who comes in to contact with them has a role to play in identifying concerns, sharing information, and taking prompt action.

The Procurement Academy is committed to the government national framework: Working Together to Safeguard Children

4. SAFEGUARDING ADULTS – 6 PRINCIPLES

Empowerment	We give individuals the right information about how to recognise abuse and what they can do to keep themselves safe. We give them clear and simple information about how to report abuse and crime and what support we can give. We consult them before we take any action. Where someone lacks capacity to make a decision, we always action in his or her best interest.
Protection	We have effective ways of assessing and managing risk. Our local complaints and reporting arrangements for abuse and suspected criminal offences work well. We take responsibility for putting them in touch with the right person.
Prevention	We train staff how to recognise signs and take action to prevent abuse occurring. In all our work, we consider how to make communities safer.
Proportionality	We discuss with the individual and where appropriate, with partner agencies what to do where there is a risk of significant harm before we take a decision. Risk is an element of many situations and should be part of any wider assessment.
Partnership	We are good at sharing information locally. We have multi-agency partnership arrangements in place and staff understand how to use these. We foster a 'one' team approach that places the welfare of individuals before the 'needs' of the system.
Accountability	The roles of all agencies are clear, together with the lines of accountability. Staff understand what is expected of them and others. Agencies recognise their responsibilities to each other, act upon them and accept collective responsibility for safeguarding arrangements.

5. DEFINITIONS

The following definitions apply throughout the Safeguarding policy and associated procedures:

Child or Children:

The Children Act 2004 defines a child as a person under eighteen for most purposes.

Vulnerable Adult or Adults:

The Office of the Public Guardian (OPG 2013) defines a vulnerable adult as a person aged 18 or over who has a condition of the following type:

- a substantial learning or physical disability
- a physical or mental illness or mental disorder, chronic or otherwise, including addiction to alcohol or drugs
- a significant reduction in physical or mental capacity.

Types of abuse and neglect:

Abuse:

A form of maltreatment of a child or vulnerable adult. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child or vulnerable adult by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. They may be abused by an adult or adults or child or children.

Physical Abuse:

Physical abuse may take many forms e.g., hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning, or scalding, drowning, or suffocating. It may also be caused when a parent or carer feigns the symptoms of, or deliberately causes, ill health to a child or vulnerable adult. This unusual and potentially dangerous form of abuse is now described as fabricated or induced illness.

Emotional Abuse:

Emotional abuse is persistent emotional ill treatment causing severe and persistent effects on the child or vulnerable adult's emotional development and may involve:

- conveying the message that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only in so far as they meet the needs of another person
- Not giving the child or vulnerable adult opportunities to express their views
- Deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate
- Interactions that are beyond a child or vulnerable adults' developmental capability as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing from participating in normal social interaction
- Seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another

- Serious bullying (including cyberbullying), causing children or vulnerable adults to feel frightened or in danger

- exploitation or corruption of children or vulnerable adults

Some level of emotional abuse is involved in most types of ill treatment, although emotional abuse may occur alone.

Sexual Abuse:

Sexual abuse involves forcing or enticing a child or vulnerable adult to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not they are aware of what is happening. These activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example rape or oral sex) and non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing, and touching outside of clothing. This may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children or vulnerable adults in looking at, or being involved in the production of sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.

Neglect:

Neglect involves the persistent failure to meet basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in serious impairment of the child or vulnerable adult's health and development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy because of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to; provide adequate food, clothing, and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment); protect from physical and emotional harm or danger; ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate caregivers); or ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child or vulnerable adults emotional needs.

There are also specific issues which we expect our staff to be aware of, these include:

- Child sexual exploitation
- Forced marriage
- Domestic violence
- Female genital mutilation
- Radicalisation
- Self harm
- Bullying/cyberbullying
- Drugs
- Faith abuse
- Gangs and youth violence
- Violence against women and girls

- Sexting
- Honour Based Violence
- Trafficking

12. REPORTING CASES TO THE DISCLOSURE AND BARRING SERVICE (DBS)

Every effort will be made to reach a conclusion in cases relating to the welfare of children or vulnerable adults, including those where the person concerned refuses to co-operate with the process

14. WHISTLEBLOWING

The Procurement Academy has an established Whistleblowing procedure for enabling staff to share, in confidence with a Designated Assessor, concerns they may have about instances of suspected malpractice in The Procurement Academy. Malpractice can include fraud and financial irregularities, criminal offences being committed, that have been committed or that are likely to be committed, endangering the health or safety of individuals, and can also include concerns around the protection of children or vulnerable adults. The procedure is intended to provide safeguards to enable members of The Procurement Academy staff to raise concerns without fear of adverse repercussions. The Procurement Academy recognises that it may be difficult to express concerns about colleagues and is fully supportive of Whistleblowing for the sake of a child or vulnerable adult and will provide support and protect those who “blow the whistle.” This procedure is, accordingly, intended to provide safeguards to enable members of staff to raise concerns about malpractice in connection with The Procurement Academy. The aim is to provide a rapid mechanism under which genuine concerns can be raised internally, and, if necessary, externally without fear of adverse repercussions to the individual. It is also intended to promote throughout The Procurement Academy a culture of openness and a shared sense of integrity by inviting all employees to act responsibly to uphold the reputation of The Procurement Academy and maintain public confidence.

15. SUPPORT FOR STAFF

The Procurement Academy is aware that safeguarding cases can be distressing and that staff who have been involved may find it helpful to talk about their experiences, in confidence, with one of the Designated Safeguarding Officers or with a trained counsellor. Staff wishing to be referred for counselling should discuss with their line manager.

16. RADICALISM AND EXTREMISM

The Procurement Academy values the fundamental rights of freedom of speech, expression of beliefs and ideology and tolerance of others which are the core values of our democratic society. However, all rights come with responsibilities and free speech, or beliefs designed to manipulate the vulnerable or which advocate harm or hatred towards others will not be tolerated. The Procurement Academy seeks to protect its Apprentices and Learners and staff from all messages and forms of violent extremism and ideologies including those linked to, but not restricted, to the following: Far Right/Neo Nazi, White Supremacist ideology, Islamist ideology, Irish Nationalist and Loyalist paramilitary groups and extremist Animal Rights groups.

The Procurement Academy is clear that exploitation and radicalisation will be viewed as a safeguarding concern and will be referred to the appropriate safeguarding agencies.

Training

Our Designated Safeguarding Officers will take a lead role in upskilling themselves and other staff members in this important area. Our staff are trained to ensure the employers and subcontractors we work with are not linked to any extremist activity or organisations by completing an initial online monitoring activity (recommended by Prevent). If they suspect any activity, they are not happy with they will report this immediately to our Designated Safeguarding Officer and Prevent Lead – Philip Chippindale

17. ONLINE SAFETY

The Procurement Academy has an Online Safety & social networking Policy which recognises that Online Safety is a safeguarding issue not an ICT issue. The purpose of internet use in The Procurement Academy is to help raise educational standards, promote candidate achievement, and support the professional work of staff as well as enhancing the management of information and business administration.

The internet is an essential element of education, business and social interaction and The Procurement Academy has a duty to provide all learners and staff with quality access as part of their learning experience.
