

Safeguarding children

Missing child

Policy statement

Children's safety is maintained as the highest priority at all times both on and off premises. Every attempt is made through carrying out the outing's procedure and the exit/entrance procedure to ensure the security of children is maintained at all times. In the unlikely event of a child going missing, our missing child procedure is followed.

Procedures

Child going missing on the premises:

- As soon as it is noticed that a child is missing the key person/staff alerts the setting manager.
- The setting manager will carry out a thorough search of the building and outside area.
- The register is checked to make sure no other child has also gone astray.
- Doors and gates are checked to see if there has been a breach of security whereby a child could have wandered out.
- If the child is not found, the parent and school are contacted and the missing child is reported to the police.
- The setting manager talks to the staff to find out when and where the child was last seen and records this.
- The setting manager contacts the Managing Director Ryan Robertson and reports the incident. The Managing Director carries out an investigation and may come to the setting immediately.

Child going missing on an outing:

What to do when a child goes missing from a whole club outing.

As soon as it is noticed that a child is missing, staff on the outing ask children to stand with their designated person and carry out a headcount to ensure that no other child has gone astray. One staff member searches the immediate vicinity but does not search beyond that.

- The setting manager contacts the Managing Director immediately and the incident is reported.
- The setting manager contacts the police and reports the child as missing.
- The setting manager contacts the parent, who makes their way to the setting or outing venue as agreed with the setting manager.
- Staff take the remaining children back to the setting.
- In an indoor venue, the staff contact the venue's security who will handle the search and contact the police if the child is not found.
- The setting manager contacts the Managing Director and reports the incident. The managing director carries out an investigation and may come to the setting immediately.
- The setting manager, or designated staff member may be advised by the police to stay at the venue until they arrive.

The investigation:

- Staff keep calm and do not let the other children become anxious or worried.
- The setting manager together with the Managing Director Ryan Robertson speaks with the parent(s)/carer(s).
- The Managing Director will carry out a full investigation taking written statements from all the staff who were present when the child went missing.
- The key person/staff member writes an incident report detailing:
 - The date and time of the report.
 - What staff/children were in the group/outing and the name of the staff designated responsible for the missing child.
 - When the child was last seen in the group/outing.
 - What has taken place in the group or outing since the child went missing.
 - The time it is estimated that the child went missing.
 - A conclusion is drawn as to how the breach of security happened.
 - If the incident warrants a police investigation, all staff co-operate fully. In this case, the police will handle all aspects of the investigation, including interviewing staff. Children's Social Care may be involved if it seems likely that there is a child protection issue to address.
- The incident is reported under RIDDOR arrangements (see the Reporting of Accidents and Incidents policy); the local authority Health and Safety Officer may want to investigate and will decide if there is a case for prosecution.
- In the event of disciplinary action needing to be taken, Ofsted is informed.
- The insurance provider is informed.

Managing people

- Missing child incidents are very worrying for all concerned. Part of managing the incident is to try to keep everyone as calm as possible.

- The staff will feel worried about the child, especially the key person or the designated carer responsible for the safety of that child for the outing. They may blame themselves and their feelings of anxiety and distress will rise as the length of time the child is missing increases.
- Staff may be the understandable target of parental anger and they may be afraid. Setting managers need to ensure that staff under investigation are not only fairly treated but receive support while feeling vulnerable.
- The parents will feel angry, and fraught. They may want to blame staff and may single out one staff member over others; they may direct their anger at the setting manager. When dealing with a distraught and angry parent, there should always be two members of staff, one of whom is the setting manager and the other should be representative of JPAC Ltd management. No matter how understandable the parent(s)/carer(s) anger may be, aggression or threats against staff are not tolerated, and the police should be called.
- The other children are also sensitive to what is going on around them. They too may be worried. The remaining staff caring for them need to be focused on their needs and must not discuss the incident in front of them. They should answer children's questions honestly but also reassure them.
- In accordance with the severity of the final outcome, staff may need counselling and support. If a child is not found, or is injured, or worse, this will be a very difficult time. The Managing Director will use their discretion to decide what action to take.
 - Staff must not discuss any missing child incident with the press without taking advice from Ryan Robertson 07971957839
