

JPAC Ltd Children's Rights and Entitlements

Safeguarding children Children's rights and entitlements

The current UN Convention on The Rights of the Child states:

"The Convention applies to every child without discrimination, whatever their ethnicity, sex, religion, language, abilities or any other status, whatever they think or say, whatever their family background. The best interests of the child must be a top priority in all decisions and actions that affect children."

It is the obligation of everyone to protect children from any form of discrimination and to take positive action to promote their rights.

Policy statement

- We promote children's right to be strong, resilient and listened to by creating an environment in our settings that encourages children to develop a positive self-image, which includes their heritage arising from their colour and ethnicity, their languages spoken at home, their religious beliefs, cultural traditions and home background.
- We promote children's right to be strong, resilient and listened to by encouraging children to develop a sense of autonomy and independence.
- We promote children's right to be strong, resilient and listened to by enabling children to have the self-confidence and the vocabulary to resist inappropriate approaches.
- We help children to establish and sustain satisfying relationships within their families, with peers, and with other adults.
- We work with parents to build their understanding of, and commitment to, the principles of safeguarding all our children.

What it means to promote children's rights and entitlements to be 'strong, resilient and listened to'.

To be strong means to be:

• secure in their foremost attachment relationships where they are loved and cared for, by at least one person who is able to offer consistent, positive and unconditional regard and who can be relied on;

- safe and valued as individuals in their families and in relationships beyond the family, such as in JPAC Ltd Out of School Clubs.
- self-assured and form a positive sense of themselves including all aspects of their identity and heritage.
- included equally and belong in early years settings and in community life.
- confident in abilities and proud of their achievements.
- progressing optimally in all aspects of their development and learning.
- to be part of a peer group in which to learn to negotiate, develop social skills and identity as global citizens, respecting the rights of others in a diverse world and being able to resist the pressures of radical groups; and
- to participate and be able to represent themselves in aspects of service delivery that affects them as well as aspects of key decisions that affect their lives.

To be resilient means to:

- ensure of their self- worth and dignity.
- be able to be assertive and state their needs effectively.
- be able to overcome difficulties and problems.
- be positive in their outlook on life.
- be able to cope with challenge and change.
- have a sense of justice towards self and others.
- to develop a sense of responsibility towards self and others, and
- to be able to represent themselves and others in key decision-making processes.

To be listened to means:

- adults who are close to children recognise their need and right to express and communicate their thoughts, feelings and ideas.
- adults who are close to children are able to tune in to their verbal, sign and body language in order to understand and interpret what is being expressed and communicated.
- adults who are close to children are able to respond appropriately and, when required, act-upon their understanding of what children express and communicate; and
- adults respect children's rights and facilitate children's participation and representation in imaginative and child-centred ways in all aspects of core services. eg children helping to plan Club activities.