COACHING COURSE FAQ's & DESCRIPTORS

The RFU's Coach Development Courses are continually reviewed to ensure they reflect best practice and the needs of the players and their coaches.

Coaches who attend qualification courses will be given access to the on-line coaching academy. This reflects the need for coaches to continually develop their rugby knowledge and coaching skills to ensure they provide the best experience to players.

Successful candidates on RFU Coaching qualification courses will become licensed provided they agree to abide by the terms & conditions of the licence. Licences remain 'live' for 3 years and can be maintained through regular attendance at CPD (3 events in 3 years).

FAQs

Q: Is this going to cost money to obtain my qualification?

A: Yes, however every effort is made to keep the cost of courses as low as possible. The RFU continue to subsidise the actual cost of coaching courses by over 50%. Also, coaches of the 15-a-side game may go straight to the RFU Coaching Award (UKCC Level 2).

Q: Do I need to do Rugby Ready before I apply for the RFU Coaching Award (UKCC Level 2) if I have already done it before attending my Level 1?

A: No, if you have done it previously you don't have to retake the course. We would however strongly recommend that you review the resources on the IRB website http://www.irbrugbyready.com/ and retake the online test on an annual basis.

Q: Must I attend 'Scrum Factory' and Rugby Ready before I do the RFU Coaching Award (UKCC Level 2)?

A: Yes, minimising risk to players is vital, and safe coaching is essential. The courses are designed to help coaches and players to understand individual and collective techniques, together with position specific conditioning.

COACHING COURSE FAQ's & DESCRIPTORS

Q: I have never played or coached rugby before and I want to do the RFU Coaching Award (UKCC Level 2). Is this possible?

A: Yes, if you are coaching the 15-a-side game, however you may decide that after attending the pre requisite courses that you need more experience and support.

Q: Must I attend a CPD Module before the RFU Coaching Award (UKCC Level 2)?

A: If you hold a Level 1 qualification, it is expected that you update your knowledge and skills prior to moving into the 15-a-side game or the RFU Coaching Award (UKCC Level 2). If you do not hold a Level 1 qualification, then CPD modules are easily accessible and a good way of developing your knowledge and skills in readiness for the RFU Coaching Award (UKCC Level 2) programme.

Q: Do the courses involve practical/physical activity?

A: Yes, the courses involve both practical and theoretical elements. You will be expected to deliver short coaching tasks and review your coaching performance in front of your peers and educator / assessor. When not coaching you may act as a player, however previous/current playing experience is not needed. If you are unable to take part in any activity you should notify the RFU when you apply for the course and/or when the course starts.

Q: Are courses pass or fail?

A: Qualification courses are competence based and you will need to demonstrate competency in all areas. If you are deemed 'Not Yet Competent' in any area you will be supported by your educator who will provide you with guidance on how you can demonstrate competence even beyond the end of the course. CPD & Foundation courses are attendance based courses and are not assessed.

MATCH OFFICIAL COURSE FAQ's & DESCRIPTORS

Course/Award	Descriptor
Refereeing	This is not recognised by the RFU as a formal qualification; however, delegates receive a Certificate of
Mini/Midi	Attendance and it will equip them with the basic knowledge required to referee at mini midi levels.
	To be replaced by Level 1 Refereeing Children (U12s and below) Course which is currently going through pilot phase – Launch 2014.
Entry Level	For new or inexperienced referees, the ELRA offers an introduction to refereeing a game of rugby
Referee Award	union and will equip delegates with the skills and confidence to do so effectively. The ELRA is recognised by the RFU as a formal refereeing qualification.
	To be replaced by Level 2 Refereeing 15-a-side Rugby (U13s and above) which is currently going through pilot phase — Launch 2014.

MATCH OFFICIAL COURSE FAQ's & DESCRIPTORS

Q: What is the minimum age to attend the ELRA course?

A: You must be 14 years old to attend the ELRA Course. This currently stands to increase to 16 years old when the course becomes the Level 2 Refereeing 15-a-side Rugby Course.

Q: Why has the Stage 3 for the ELRA been removed?

A: We want to encourage referees to join society and allow society to support new recruits based on their respective circumstances e.g. a teacher that has refereed 100s of school matches might expect a different 'induction' phase to a newly qualified referee with little practical experience

Q: Can unqualified referees to join a society?

A: We would always encourage people to become qualified. However you may wish to support potential recruits until they can complete the next available ELRA course. Providing they are a member of your society they will be covered by Refs and Coaches liability assurance.

Q: Can an unqualified individual referee games?

A: Providing any club/school where the individual is refereeing is aware that they have not attended an ELRA and they agree then the individual is insured. However if anything was to happen, then an investigation would be made into what training the referee went through to ensure that they were competent to referee appropriately. Hence why we strongly recommend they attend an ELRA and part-take in regular training thereafter. Further to this the old Foundation Course has now run out/is void and so unless an individual has been actively involved in refereeing and in any further training, assessment /observations they would be classed as unqualified/untrained. The ELRA is currently regarded as a "Lifetime" award.

MEDICAL COURSE FAQ's & DESCRIPTORS

Often local providers can offer training at reduced cost, this is great if it helps the clubs afford good quality training, but care needs to be taken to ensure that the courses offered are certified by an accredited body, and that they include all the elements required to fully train a pitch-side first aider.

It really is a good idea for Clubs or schools/colleges be trained up to a nationally recognised standard on a course that is specifically tailored to rugby (and relevant for all contact sports).

We would recommend that any training course used is accredited. If a volunteer tried to carry out first aid that they hadn't been properly trained to do it may invalidate their insurance cover and it is hard to prove what training they have had (and to what standard) without a certificate from an accredited provider. More information about how to choose a course is available at www.rfu.com/firstaid and this is supplemented by guidance on first aid provision (i.e. how many first aiders a club might need at each level) also available at that web address.

How To Book

- Clubs, Schools, Colleges or individuals can arrange for a local course by contacting STA through Daniel.waring@sta.co.uk (or phone on 01922 748 384). STA will set up the course and arrange for a tutor and all course resources.
- Candidates can go here, select one of these courses, register and pay online (one person can register a group of people if required.
- Once candidates have registered and paid they will be issued via email an access code for the pre-course learning module.
- This module MUST be completed and a certificate printed off before their face-to-face course takes place. They will not be able to pass the course without this certificate being examined by the course tutor.
- If the candidate successfully completes the pre-course learning and the face-to-face training then a certificate will be automatically issued in the following few weeks.
- Individuals will then be automatically registered on Rugby First as having completed the RFU Emergency First Aid course.
