

Ballymacward

About Our School:

St. Peter and Paul National School, a co-educational national school was established in 1974 under the patronage of the Catholic Bishop of Clonfert, Bishop John Kirby.

We are a rural school in Ballymacward. Farming and agriculture is a very important part of our school community.

History of Ballymacward:

Ballymacward (Irish: Baile Mhic an Bháird) is a village in County Galway, Ireland, on the R359 regional road between the main road and rail networks which traverse east-west, 15 miles from Ballinasloe and approximately 30 miles from Galway City. It was once part of the kingdom of the Soghain of Connacht. It lies 4 km north of Woodlawn railway station.
