

St John the Evangelist Catholic Primary

It has been another fun-filled half term at St John's!

The whole school enjoyed celebrating World Book Day. Children were inspired by a visiting author and had the chance to develop their own creative writing skills. Dressing up as a favourite book character is always fun, and children at St John's showed some very imaginative and creative costumes. Some of our excellent readers were also rewarded with a special visit to our very own Starbooks cafe.

Year 2 and 6 completed a special workshop to where they learnt about the importance of caring for our world, and we were lucky enough to see two excellent class assemblies from Reception Class and Year 1.

Year 5 had an amazing time on their Nell Bank residential. They showed excellent co-operation, problem solving and resilience. The Ilkley Moor walk was made even better by the glorious sunshine and their excellent behaviour was praised by others.

We are now a school full of budding scientists after a fantastic science week. Each class completed a range of extra science experiments and activities. Some of these included investigating the size of moon craters, making kaleidoscopes and going outside to investigate for minibeasts and their habitats.

Before the end of term we have yet to look forward to inviting parents and carers into our classrooms to Pray and Play, as well as continuing our Good Shepherd fundraising. Thanks to everyone for all their continued hard work and enthusiasm to learning. I know it will continue!
