Big Sing Birthday

By Olivia Mcghee, Entertainment reporter

On Thursday 14th March, 12 schools and 3 choirs were invited to sing at the Big Sing 2019, to celebrate NMPAT's 50th birthday at the Royal and Derngate Theatre.

Children from all over Northamptonshire came with their schools to attend the brilliant Big Sing. The concert was conducted by the enthusiastic Beth Hodgson and was compered by the chief executive of NMPAT, Peter Smalley. The crowds of excited children sang brilliantly as over 700 thrilled audience members watched with smiles on their faces and hands in the air. Two soloists amazed the audience as they sang. One soloist, Josh Hunter, sang 'Wake Me Up Before You Go Go' by Wham. The second soloist of the evening was Josh Manns, who is only sixteen. Josh sang 'Angels' by Robbie Williams accompanied by the children at the chorus with Makaton signing which was an amazing idea.

Kaelyn Cowe, 9, after we asked her what she liked about the performance said: "I liked singing in front of the crowd especially as my parents were there." We then asked some pupils what the performance was like. Year 5 pupil Leah Hobson said: "It was really good fun and I hope we do it again in the future." The last question we asked some of the pupils was what their favourite song was. Lydia Finch, a year 5 pupil at WSES answered: "I couldn't choose a favourite, they were all amazing."

The concert was definitely one to remember and we hope they do it again in the future.

Non-uniform and Film Afternoon

Next Friday is a non-uniform day in exchange for an Easter tombola prize. The children will also be having a film afternoon on this day as a reward for filling our 'Golden Nugget' jar. Children (and staff) can earn a golden nugget by being seen demonstrating one of our Christian Values around school, and when it is filled then the school council are involved in choosing the whole school treat.

A polite request...

If we have an issue that we need to discuss with you, we will always ensure that this is done in a sensitive way. We appreciate that despite our best efforts sometimes things may go wrong and you may have an issue that you need us to deal with. Please can we ask that you also speak to staff members in a polite and respectful manner, and that you do not discuss school matters openly on social media. Thank you.
