SCHOOL NEWS

Welcome back to the summer and final term for this academic year. This term the children will get involved with planning our new curriculum, Sports Day, saying goodbye to Year 6, welcoming our new reception pupils and so much more.

I am hoping that the redevelopment of our website, which will include a specific app for mobile phones, will help you keep up to date with everything going on during this busy term.

An essential part of our role in school is to prepare pupils for the next stage in their learning journey. A huge focus for us all is developing independence.

This week there was a programme on ITV called Planet Child. It was fascinating and presented some interesting facts. Many children today, spend less time outside than prison inmates! The programme set an experiment to see whether children between the ages of 4 and 7 could get across London on a bus to the London Eye! Of course this was a very controlled experiment, but well worth a watch on catch up. I have to confess there were nail biting moments, especially when you saw how small they were. Knowing which bus stop to get off at, would be a challenge for most adults in central London.

Your children may begin to tell you about our chicken eggs. We began incubating them this week and hope to share news of hatchings in the not too distant future.

Have a great long weekend.

Kerrie Lewis
