

What will I learn?

The course is largely topic-based. Students improve their language skills via a wide range of topics including: current affairs, contemporary social issues, the media, the world of work, culture and the arts.

Students following these courses will have the opportunity to:

- use a wide range of authentic materials, both spoken and written, including newspaper and magazine articles, and the Internet
- have regular conversation practice with the subject teacher either individually or in small groups
- develop linguistic skills and cultural awareness through watching films.
- Our aims are to encourage students to:
- understand spoken and written forms of French from a variety of registers
- communicate confidently and effectively in French
- increase knowledge of grammar and sensitivity to language and language learning
- develop critical insights into contemporary society
- develop independent study skills.

Highlights

Two of our former students who achieved A* and A are attending the University of Oxford and at King's College studying French and German.

One of our students scored an A grade and is studying French and Spanish at Oxford University.

Assessment

Exams

Course requirements

A minimum of six grade 4-9 GCSE passes, including a 6 in French.