

Learning together...expanding horizons.

With faith, we care, share and learn together.

Thursday 6th June 2019

Dear Parents and Carers,

Bradwell Infant School and Bradwell Junior School would like to announce an exciting plan for the future!

From September 2019, Mrs McGuinness and Mr Hurford will be teaching at both schools.

This is a really exciting opportunity for our schools to work more closely together for the benefit of the children. Both teachers will spend the majority of their time in their current classes at Bradwell Junior School but they will also teach at Bradwell Infant School.

We feel strongly that there are many positive benefits from this model. Sharing staff in this way aids continuity, progression and transition for KS1 pupils moving up in the future. It also develops the careers of experienced, high quality staff.

Professionally this allows expertise and knowledge to be more readily shared across schools. It will also allow forward planning for future years to become more predictable and secure for both schools.

We will be sending out a further letter shortly explaining what this will look like for the classes in each of our schools.

We hope that you and the children will look forward to this exciting opportunity as much as we are.

Yours sincerely
