About me

Born in Liverpool in 1939, of Italian parents. Educated to degree level on a part-time basis whilst working at IMI Research Department and later as superintendent of a small specialised casting section. Became Works Manager and later Personnel Manager with a large building-block manufacturer. Moved as Human Resources Manager to a ceramics company before starting my own company, assisting local small businesses with the management and training of their employees. Now retired. Interests include gardening, walking with a group and assisting children for whom English is not their first language at a local primary school.

Why I am a member of the LAC at St James

I have an interest in volunteering for local organisations such as acting as warden at a nature reserve. When the opportunity arose for being a Governor at St James, I thought my experience and background would be of some use to the School in its duties to provide the best education it can offer for local children. I found I had sufficient time on my hands to carry out the role.
