Dear Parents & Carers,

Last term the governors undertook a survey of parental views about a range of areas of school life.

Homework is the one area which is always controversial with parents divided between those who want more and others who want less, as well as differing views about the style and content of the activities provided.

The school leadership team have been looking into different research and models of homework. There is evidence that practising basic skills at home supports learning in school. However, most research suggests that homework at primary school has little or no impact on overall pupil attainment or progress.

We have designed a survey about homework to gather your views and inform our future policy and practice. Please use the link below to access the survey and complete it by Friday 28 June 2019.

The children will be given a separate survey.

Thank you in anticipation for your support.

Yours sincerely,

David Barnett
