Issue 35— 12th July 2019

Dear Parents,

It's been a week of highs and lows.

The year 6 SATs results have been shared with schools this week and our children and parents will get them tonight. As a school, the outcomes this year are fantastic. In all areas of reading, writing and maths we have made significant improvements. This is down to the hard work of the children and Miss Morland and they should be very proud.

More information will be shared at our School Improvement Meeting on Monday 22nd July at 7.00. Please do come along.

After a lengthy and in-depth consultation with children, parents, staff and governors we have finalised our new school vision ready for September. This is a real turning point in the school and I'm very excited about the future.

As you all know the school was targeted this week. Unfortunately, a lot of damage was done but little of material value taken. Again I am very grateful to the staff who, not only helped restore the site to normality, but also helped the children settle back into their learning without a fuss. We must always give thanks for what we have and to forgive those who stray - the words of the Lord's Prayer remind us of that.

I hope to see you at the PTA Hogfest tonight where we can celebrate the end of the year together - if you can't make it have a lovely weekend.
