Dear parent/carer,

At Copley, we strive to develop a school of life-long readers who really enjoy books and we are asking for your support over the summer holidays in promoting enjoyment of reading. First of all, we will be continuing our popular 'Extreme Reading Challenge' this year and look forward to the many weird and wonderful photographs of our children reading in unique ways and in amazing places.

Also, during the first week back at school, we would like the children to tell their teachers and classmates all about a book they love. Class time will be allocated for children to complete a piece of work about their favourite book. Children will have choice over how they approach this e.g. writing a character description; writing a diary entry as if you are one of your favourite characters; creating a fact file about a subject of interest using information from non-fiction books; creating a page for a factual book on an area of interest etc.

During the summer holiday, children are also invited to prepare a short extract of their book to read out loud or perform to their class during the first week back at school. This is a voluntary home learning task, however, every child who participates will be entered in a raffle to win a prize!

Thank you for your continued support.

Mrs N Henfield,
English Subject Leader
