

Our forest school week

3/10/19

Today was an exciting day as it was James Lee's first Forest School trip of the year. The first group was very excited about getting onto the minibus and heading to Wimbledon Common for a day of adventure.

When the children arrived they were keen to go and explore their new learning environment. They took time to take in what they could see and navigate routes and places they wanted to go.

"Wow! A big puddle!"

The children enjoyed exploring the puddles along the paths that were a result of the torrential rain we had a few days before.

Some of the children were really keen to climb the trees at Forest School. They developed their confidence and skills in climbing to the highest branch they could reach.

Some of the children were interested in collecting. They used the buckets to collect stones, sticks, leaves and other interesting objects.

“Look! It’s a mountain!”

The children discovered the big hill on the common. They explored height and gradient as they ran up and rolled down it.

The children also worked together to put up the rope swing. They developed the skill of getting on and off which took a little time and they developed their negotiation skills of who’s turn it was next.
