

Our Forest School Week

31/10/19

Today the children showed an increase in their confidence and independence whilst exploring the natural environment. They independently developed different role play scenarios and used the natural objects around them to support their play.

“Look! I’m a reindeer!”

“Help me I’m stuck!”

Helping your friends has been a big theme of the day as the children got stuck in the muddy puddles.

We found a pond whilst walking through the forest. This provided the children the opportunity to develop their ability to take and manage their own risks. Some of the children showed lots of confident in taking and managing risks themselves.

“Look what I found!”

Mark making

There was lots of interest in the mushrooms that we found today. One of the children suggested going on a mushroom hunt. We counted them along the way.

At the end of the day one of the children found a big stick and pretended it was a giant pencil. She made marks along the path all the way back to the minibus.

It was a great day at Forest School and we look forward to Family day next week.
