

Special Edition Newsletter by Mr Marsh

14th January 2020

I was excited to see my office. The first thing I did was go to Edison class to find a good time to read a story to them. Next I came back to my office and turned the computer on while it was loading I went to open the gate. It was a pleasure to welcome all the children and hear them say 'Good morning' to me.

I started off answering a long list of emails. I had to tell one staff member that they could not have a day off to go to their Aunty's dog's birthday party! I also had to arrange a meeting with our Business Manager to talk about the treat at lunchtime on Thursday and agree to a request from Mrs Walton-Wallace for the school to start collecting stamps for the RNIB.

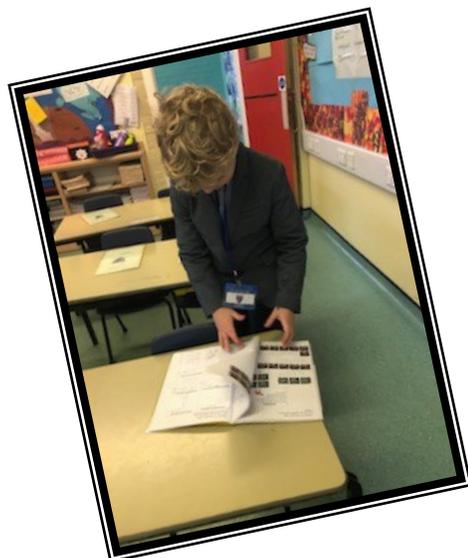

I went on a learning walk around the school and saw that in all the classes the children were learning quietly and they were focused. I was really impressed with year 2 because they were the quietest and all were concentrating.

The children were also lucky enough to have an extra 15 minutes play today!

Today I was fortunate to visit Edison Class to read Superpigs they were a great audience I was pleased to see that they liked the story. It was a good pick because there are learning the story of the three little pigs.

Mrs Walton Wallace wants to collect stamps for the RNIB if you have any spare please can you bring them to the office.

My Assembly

I said good morning to the children and they said it back to me. I put on espresso newsbites so that we could find out about what has been happening around the world and then we did the quiz.

This afternoon I had a very important meeting with Mrs Bennett to discuss the treat for our Thursday lunch. I made lots of brilliant suggestions for the treat, including teddies and sweets. We came up with the idea of having slightly different treats for the key stages too. Mrs Bennett was very grateful for my advice and she said that my experience was vital. I'm really looking forward to Thursday lunch now!

My day has been very busy and fun. the one thing that surprised me was that my name was on the board at the front of the school. I had a really good day . I hope they do another be 'Headteacher for the day' raffle next Christmas.

I think that Mrs Farr was very proud of me for the job that I did today—the school is still standing, she had cups of tea and everyone did well. I think the children loved their extra playtime, but I'm not so sure about the teachers on duty!

I'm off to play at the Badminton Festival now. Good luck to all of us taking part and thank you, Miss Mills, for organising it.