

The Use of Asulam for Bracken Control in 2020

The Sector Representatives of the Bracken Control Group have expressed concern about the restrictions in the draft Emergency Authorisation approval that will cover the use of Asulam for bracken control during 2020.

In case this issue will be of interest to your readers, on behalf of the Group, I am forwarding a link to a briefing and short questionnaire, which is available on this link.

At this stage the priority is to contact people who have experience of controlling bracken and provide them with an accurate summary of the position, and the questionnaire seeks to gather some basic information from respondents.

Input from others with knowledge about bracken control will also be welcome.

This initial approach may be followed by an additional questionnaire to establish the views of respondents about the actions that they would like to see taken.

The BCG will be grateful for your support with this initiative.
