W/C 3rd February – Week 3

National Bug Busting Day – 31st January

On National Bug Busting Day we ask all parents to check their child's hair and if any lice are detected then please ensure the correct treatment method is followed.

We hope that if everyone commits to combing and/or treating their children's hair on this day we have a better chance of combating the current outbreak.

If you would like any further information please see link below:

<https://www.chc.org/for-parents/>

If your child does have head lice they are still allowed to attend to school, please just ensure the correct treatment process is being followed.

Matched Funding

If your business is involved in a Matched Funding Scheme, where they support schools in funding projects by matching the funds we put towards them, please could you contact the school with the contact details we need to explore this further. We are about to confirm development plans for the Year 2 playground new gym trail and markings and would like to add on the construction of a new outside classroom behind Tiger and Jaguar classrooms, if we can raise the money to do this.

Any support that can be tapped into is greatly appreciated!

Thank you!

Safeguarding Concern

We have been made aware that some parents are leaving their children unattended in the playground before 8.45am, when the internal gates are opened and staff are on duty. Please remember that your children are your responsibility until staff arrive to open the gates and they can come safely into school. The main gates are opened at 8.30am to allow parents into the grounds and for access to the Junior school. They are not manned by staff until 8.45am. If you see any children who have been left without an adult, please make the staff aware of who they are so we can contact parents directly about this concern.

Thank you for helping us to keep all of our children safe.

New 'Respect Me' plea to STOP abuse towards County's beloved School Crossing Patrollers

A new campaign is being introduced this week to help protect the small army of lollipop men and women across Buckinghamshire from rising levels of abuse and aggression they receive.

Launching 'Respect Me', Buckinghamshire County Council's School Crossing Patrollers team say it's time to raise awareness about the issues sometimes faced by lollipop men and women and to highlight the importance of their role in the community.

The 'Respect Me' project, which will see patrollers wearing new orange tabards bearing the slogan, focuses on the rise in incidents over the past year as well as urging residents to support their local patroller by reporting anything they witness.

There have been rising concerns as incident reports have increased over 2019, with 12 reports recorded in December alone. Cases have included drivers refusing to stop or experiences of aggression or abuse.

Currently, there are 60 patrollers devoting their time morning and afternoon to helping children safely reach school as well as assisting adults across the road.

Bucks' school crossing patrollers have become valuable members of their communities, with the longest serving lollipop woman Christine Walker crossing pedestrians for 42 years and 91-year-old lollipop man Gilly Fryer who is well-loved by the pupils he helps.

The team are also on the lookout for more permanent patrollers as well as relief patrollers who can be available at short notice to stand in if someone is unable to work.

Buckinghamshire County Council Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Transportation Mark Shaw said of the campaign, "It's important to not only raise the awareness about the fantastic work done by our school crossing patrollers, but also talk about the difficulties they face. Any case of abuse or aggression is one too many in my book, so I'm firmly behind the new campaign."

Mark added, "We hope that communities will continue to support their local patroller and that more people will want to help ensure everyone crosses safely."
