This Week

Simmons have started to learn about Maths by counting the number of gingerbread men. Some children even went so far as to match the number of men with the correct numeral!

Inkpen and Rosen have been fascinated by the 'Supertato' books. So much so that they have been making split-pin models, producing their own costumes, and even dressing Mrs Oliver as Supertato! Next step is some writing.

Sharratt and Donaldson have been looking at the artwork of Vincent Van Gogh. They have started to make their own version of his famous work 'The Starry Night'.

Potter and Ahlberg have been investigating the properties of pizza dough, and developing their vocabulary to describe the changes as different things were added to it.

Murphy and Dahl have been investigating shadows and how to elongate or compress them. In English they have been writing Stone Age poems based on 'On the Ning Nang Nong' by Spike Milligan.

Morpurgo and Kinney have exploring the stomach capacity of different animals. They have also been looking at various animal skulls to decide whether they are herbivores or carnivores.

Hergé and Walliams have spent most of the week designing, making, testing and evaluating their attempts to keep an 'Eggnaut' safe after being dropped from a great height!

Shakespeare and Rowling have been using Google Quiz to find out about World War II, and explored a suitcase an evacuee might had needed.

Governors

We are still looking for people who would be interested in becoming a Governor. We have vacancies for three co-opted Governors, which means there won't need to be an election. The Governing Body can just ask you to join.

Governors work as a team. They are responsible for making sure the school provides a good quality education for all pupils. Raising educational standards in school is a key priority.

The Governing Body's main role is to help raise pupils' standards of achievement. You do this by taking an interest in what is happening and asking searching questions!

So, if you are interested in, or you know a grandparent or friend who might be interested, please ask them to come in and see me about what the role involves. We can then have a chat about it and they can make an informed decision about whether it is something they might be interested in.

View from the Classroom Floor

This week Year 6 have been learning about World War II and have learnt some amazing facts. We have carried on with our propaganda posters from last week to make them look as good as they can be!

In Year 3 they have been doing poetry and the Christian faith. They have also been learning about how to make big shadows.

Everybody in school really enjoyed last week's Harvest Festival assembly from Team Kinney. There was an awful lot of knowledge to take in – well done Team Kinney.

Have a great weekend.

Betsy, Sophie, Honey, Lily and Joseph.

P.S. We hope you are all ready for Hallowe'en as it could be spooky, scary and spine chilling!

Pupil Voice – Our new approach to Guided Reading

We read lots of texts and have to highlight them to help us answer retrieval questions.

It is fun because the teacher reads to us and we have a 60 second retrieval quiz.

I like it because we get to learn more about the story we are reading. It also gives us more chance to do much more reading.

I like it because you get to write more when you are answering questions using the text.

The teacher does some reading then we get to read in front of the class – it is fun.

It is really good. I really like to read out loud in front of the other children.

The Hive Out of School Club

This week our activities have linked to the topic 'Muck, Mess and Mixtures'. We set up a playdough making station (where we discovered the children are much better than the adults!), followed by a recipe to make gooey flapjack and combined science and art whilst experimenting with fizzy painting.

We have also enjoyed practising our table tennis keepy-uppys, playing Scrabble and designing newspapers.

We have limited half term places available for our exciting week of activities. If you are interested and would like some more information please email us at thehiveanlaby@gmail.com

Parking

Due to some issues around parking and dangerous driving around the school site, we have asked PCSO Watts to come and have a look at what is happening.

Please drive and park safely around the school site.

I would like Mr May to know...
