22nd November 2019

This Week

Simmons have been painting with the Numicon to support their maths learning and the mud kitchen is proving very popular at the moment.

Inkpen and Rosen have opened a Police Station as they look at goodies and baddies in traditional tales. There has also been a spate of missing dogs for which they have had to write missing dog reports.

Sharratt and Donaldson have started reading and studying the story Handa's Surprise. In science they have been looking at different animal classifications such as fish and mammals.

Potter and Ahlberg have been looking at different towers across Europe. They have done some fantastic writing as they finish looking at the story of Rapunzel.

Murphy and Dahl have been looking at algorithms in computing and trying to programme the light bots. They have also looked at the novel Journey to the Centre of the Earth and are exploring whether such a journey could be made.

Morpurgo and Kinney have been studying food chains in science and have started to explore the features of newspapers.

Hergé and Walliams have been looking at the properties of materials as they explore more of Alchemy Island. They have also started to look at electricity.

Shakespeare and Rowling have been looking at how we see colour. Along with some Y5 children they had a wonderful science and technology trip.

Governors' Drop ins

Our dedicated and hardworking Governors are organising some drop in sessions. So if you wish to see them about aspects of school life you will have the opportunity.

Mr Sanders (The Chair) and Mrs Jackson will be in school on Friday 6th December from 2:30 until 3:30pm.

So if you are interested in talking to them about concerns, questions about being a Governor and what their role is, why things happen in school or just to give them some praise they will be happy to see you.

Attendance!

We know it has been a very difficult week this week with lots of children and staff suffering with the dreaded lurgy!

We are encouraging children to catch coughs and sneezes in tissues and throwing them away and regularly washing their hands especially after going to the toilet. Please do the same at home and hopefully it will run its course quickly.

Year 4 Stay and Clay

The children in Morpurgo and Kinney had great fun working with their parents to create clay models as part of their Blue Abyss topic.

There were jelly fish, star fish, lots of coral and even a hammerhead shark being made!

A fantastic way to support the children with their learning.

View from the Classroom Floor

This week Y6 have been learning how to draw mind maps as there is so much information to learn. They also finished their SATs practice papers. We have all worked our socks off and done very well – well done everybody. There is still plenty of time before we do them for real so keep working hard and revising.

Year 5 have been doing some art work and setting descriptions.

Have a great weekend.

Sophie, Honey and Lola.

View from the Classroom Floor

This week I have been looking at how we are playing with the equipment on the KS2 playground at lunchtime.

So far everybody has been playing really nicely with the equipment. Well done everybody – keep it up!

Using the equipment means we can have good fun and helps us with our amazing behaviour at lunchtime.

Betsy

Playgroups Equipment – What the children think

It's not just for a few people everybody gets a chance to use it.

I look forward to finishing my lunch and getting to play with the equipment when it is our turn.

It stops us falling out because we have nothing to do. Now we can think of really good games to play.

It is really fun to play with.

It is really cool.

If we look after it really well it will provide fun for a long time.

The Hive Out of School Club

This week our activities have continued to link to the Year 1 topic Paws, Claws and Whiskers. We have looked at the art work of Carolyn Schmitz and recreated some of her most famous animal portraits.

The children looked at animal patterns and camouflage with Miss Fleming and used these to create collages of their favourite animals. We also designed our own Pictionary game, searched for spiders in the sand, practised our phonics whilst playing scrabble and some of our eager Year 6 children have insisted on starting to make our Christmas decorations a few weeks early!

Our table tennis champion of the week is Reuben for showing lots of enthusiasm and for taking turns with others.
