Dear All

I am so impressed with the many photo's that have been coming into school. As we enter the Bank Holiday and await the government announcement on Sunday let us, join in prayer for all those who have died and all those who are caring for the sick and housebound. It is a times like this when we need to look after our mental well-being and remember what is most important. With that in mind I have signposted you all to a school that has a lovely 7 habits page. Do look at it. Keep Well, Keep Safe and Keep Praying the Rosary now we are in May. However more than anything what I want to say is that your child will be thriving as long as you are showing them love – so please do not worry if you are not always getting through the weekly work – the most important thing is your child 'feels' as happy as possible in these strange times. Mrs Todd

Note from Angela Cox (Diocesan leader of Education)

I attach a letter from the Metropolitan Archbishops of England and Wales for you to share with your families and staff. This Thursday, Bishop Marcus will celebrate Mass online at the cathedral at 7pm for all key workers and that includes yourselves and your staff who have carried out very important roles at this time in difficult circumstances – true servant ministry. The Mass is followed at 8pm by the clapping for key workers. Do ask your families to join in.

THE 7 HABITS

<https://www.clover.k12.sc.us/Page/9183>

Do have a look at this page with your child – it will refresh them for the child and perhaps help family discussions when conflict arises which it is sure to do when we have no other outlets. Please do not worry if younger children seem to have regressed in terms of sleep or toileting at this time. If you feel worried about your child (or yourself) please have a look at the earlier newsletters that signposted email addresses for support. These are unprecedented times and are sure to have an effect.

PHOTOGRAPHS

Jessica (3) has made a pyramid and learnt to write her name in hieroglyphics! Wow! Well done!

Danny (1) has been doing a weather log as part of his Geography work! Fantastic Danny!

Amelia (5) and Olivia (2) have had a go at replicating Van Gogh's 'Starry Night' piece. These are fantastic girls!

Jessica (3) has been working super hard on her Egyptian topic! This looks fantastic well done Jessica!

Noah (5) has also been working hard on his topic about Volcanoes. Great work Noah!

Ella (R) has enjoyed her topic of Plants and Growth! She picked flowers and pressed them for her bedroom! Fantastic!

Ella (R) and James (1) followed a wartime recipe and made an eggless chocolate cake! Well done both of you!

The Hayes family are working hard on their maths! Keep it up girls!

Charlotte (3) has been working hard on her topics too! Well done Charlotte!

Esabella Green was extremely busy working on the Seasons. I like how you have matched the correct months up with the correct season Esabella well done. Do look out for the Tweet that shows all the buns that Esabella has made for Key Workers – Wow!

Fantastic topic work
From Kya (6) too!
Very colourful Kya
