

Things you should know

Emails

A bank will never ask you for personal details in an email. Do not open emails from people you do not know.

If you do open them, some may ask you for personal information which they may use without you knowing.

Some emails will tell you a sad story and ask for money. Some emails may offer you free gifts or prizes. Beware these may be scams. Do not reply. Delete the message.

Buying things

Only use secure shopping websites. This means only buy from a company that you know and trust. Not all items are original or even safe to use.

Meeting someone off the internet

Some people on websites may not tell the truth. They may not be who they say they are.

Remember, if you plan to meet someone you have never met before, always:

- Meet them in a place where there are lots of people, like a café or shopping centre.
- Let a friend know where you are meeting and let them know when you will be returning.

Pop ups

These are windows which pop up onto your screen trying to sell you something. If you click on it, you will open up their website. You may open a gambling or porn site. These sites may shock or upset you, or ask you for money.
