Head Teacher: Miss R C Kelly

Dear Children,

Hello! I hope you are all well and working hard and being as helpful as you can at home!

It has been wonderful to see some of you back at school over the past couple of weeks. You have shown great resilience in adapting to new routines and seeing your friends again after such a long period. Well done everyone!

But, those of you who have not been able to return to school are equally amazing. Your cheerful comments and hard work on the blogs are fantastic. I am really sorry that I have not been able to invite you back into school; but at the moment it is not possible because we haven't got enough space or teachers in school and we need to be able to keep everyone safe and well. I am really desperate to see everyone and I hope it won't be too long before we can all be together again.

Please keep reading and doing the work on the blogs as this will really help you when we return to school. It is important to me too to know that you are ok. If you are worried about anything at all make sure you tell someone in your family or tell your teacher, they will try and help!

Perhaps you have been able to try something new whilst you've been at home? I have been given a viola, which is like a violin but bigger. My challenge has been to learn the alto clef (it's really complicated!) but I am really enjoying it and I am really looking forward to playing it for you when we get back to school. I hope all you instrumentalists are doing your practise! It is a great way to relax. If you do have a new skill, do let me know so that we can celebrate it.

I also know a lot of new really bad jokes, as I read Mr Clayton's blog (have a look), and my son keeps telling them too. Here is his latest.

Question: How do bees get to school?

Answer: On the school buzz

Well, he thought it was funny!

Right, back to work again,

Love,

Miss Kelly
