

Starlings Class Newsletter

19th June 2020

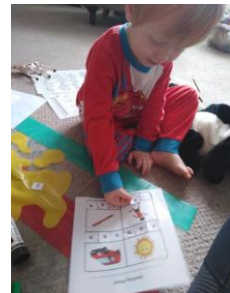

What have we learned this week?

We began our week by reading a book called Super Duper You. It's a wonderful book that helps us think about all of the things that make us who we are. The children made some amazing self-portraits as they carefully considered each facial feature and body part.

We have also continued with exploring our emotions this week, working on identifying them and explaining why we might feel a certain way.

Some other things we enjoyed this week include creating splat monster cards, cloud watching, learning to skip and water pistol play!

Some photos from the week

A Message for the children

Hello, boys and girls, it has been another fantastic week of learning both in school and at home.

It has been an absolute pleasure speaking to some of you on the phone this week and hearing all about your day.

Keep up the super work everyone! 😊

A Message for parents

A gentle reminder – Please can you continue to adhere to social distancing measures whilst on the school grounds and please keep yourselves and your children on the designated paths during arrival and dismissal time. Thank you.

Please feel free to email me if you have any questions about home learning on starlings@keeblegatewayacademy.org

Hope you all have a lovely weekend 😊