Issue 23

Dear Parents and Carers,

With so much still locked down to us, I really believe that little things that are out of the ordinary take on an extra bit of special importance. It was a joy to be on the gate this morning watching children come into school wearing costumes or outfits they had chosen especially to make them smile. I also noticed how many teachers had chosen their pyjamas and dressing gowns.... Wishful thinking on their part I suspect. Thank you for supporting us to keep these special days going for our children.

Many are finding the return to school tiring and even those who were in school, during our partial closure are sometimes struggling to share their teacher's time with an additional group of children. We can and we will get through this transition by listening to worries and supporting children to express how they are feeling. We are here to help. That goes for our children and also for our families!

Can I please remind families who need to travel to school in a car to park with care, avoid blocking neighbours' drives or parking on the yellow lines at school entrances. The roads are narrow around our school and a slower pace could save a life. We have contacted traffic enforcement officers to help us in this mission and avoid a serious accident.

Thank you for your ongoing help and support!

Have a lovely weekend,

Mrs Bowser
