Dear Parents

We are now publishing observations in school for you to access at home through the Tapestry Website or App. This means you will be able to see the things your child has been up to in school, usually with a photo or video and a comment giving you some context as to what they were doing and how they are learning. This will give you the opportunity to talk to your child about their learning at home.

Observations can be about anything that your child does in school and the class teachers use these observations to make assessments about your child's learning and their progress. You can add things that your child does at home, if you wish, but there is no expectation of this. However, if you would like to acknowledge the observations by 'liking' them or commenting on them, this is helpful for our teachers to know if their observations are being seen. We aim to publish one or two a week for each child but this may vary week to week so don't panic if it's been a few days since you last saw an update.

Finally, whilst we endeavor to type carefully and proofread before we publish observations, please forgive us if you notice the occasional error in spelling or grammar; we are not perfect and each teacher can take up to 100 observations a week so it's easy for the odd error to slip through.

Thank you for your support and we look forward to sharing your child's learning journey with you.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs Kirby-Hawkins
Deputy Headteacher
