Nurturing Hearts and Minds

Worship Reflection

New forms of transport are being developed all the time! Some may make our journeys quicker others may be better for the environment, whilst some may come with additional risks. When considering the transport, we take, it's important to think of safety first!

Dear Lord,

We pray for all those out on the roads and pavements.

We pray that they will be more cautious and less distracted. Help them to make good choices and not be in a rush so those traveling will reach their destination safely. In your name, we pray.

Amen.

Birthdays this week

Happy birthday this week to: Harry Scholes, Ivy McEaney & Maisie MacMillan.

Lunch menu next week – Week 2

New Cohort

Please remember to complete and return your child's data sheet and menu as soon as possible to the office. Thank you.

I think most of us would agree that the most important quality we would like children to have it would be to be kind. Every day in school I see great elements of kindness-children checking on each other when they are hurt or sad, stacking chairs in the hall without being asked and paying compliments.

We really shouldn't be surprised by this as you set them such a wonderful example. This week we have a parent who has been struggling to get children to school as she has been directed to isolate and we had lots of offers of help. Thank you.

Many of you will know that Indie (Y2) and Ace (YR) very sadly lost their Mummy in the half term holiday. The parents of the children in this class have been amazing and William (Dad) has been totally overwhelmed by the love and generosity that has been shown to his family. He would like to say thank you for this; although this is a very sad time for them knowing that people care and are praying for them really helps. This is why I love leading this school.

We have been hit harder than we ever have this week with staff having to isolate. We have muddled through due to the goodwill of staff always stepping up to do extra. I am so proud of how we just all pull together and keep things as normal as possible for the children. Our lucky children are set a tremendous example at both home and school. Thank you all.
