

Wednesday

This morning our group activity was raft building it was amazing we got into three groups of six and wrapped the ropes around the barrels that you need to wrap round tight and by tight I mean tight enough to give you a carpet burn...ouch. When we eventually got in the water and got to the end two boats started to dent then guess what they collapsed! Lol :P.

After that the instructor told us to ALL get on the remaining raft but only half us got on so the instructor told only a few of us to paddle the raft back to the beach but it took a long long long time!

We made water rockets but I wasn't very good, then we did Initiative Exercises and I accidentally got wet and then we all chased Miss Bartram with a jug of water and then everyone ended up soaked.

Having a good time.
