

These are the six Personal Learning and Thinking Skills,
Which ones can you do?

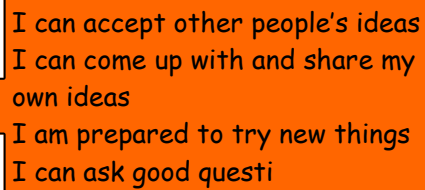

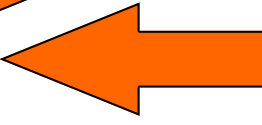

Independent Enquirer

- I know how to research a topic
- I can take part in setting my own targets
- I can look at things through different people's eyes
- I can help make my own decisions

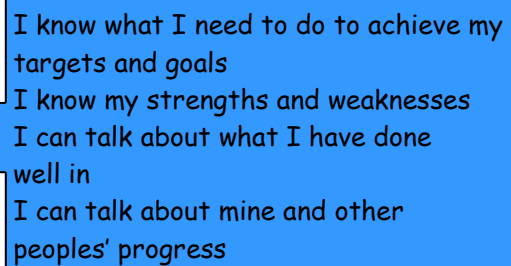

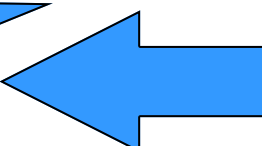

Creative Thinker

- I can accept other people's ideas
- I can come up with and share my own ideas
- I am prepared to try new things
- I can ask good questions

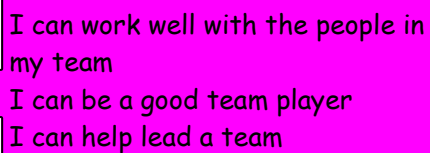

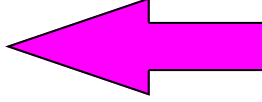

Reflective Learner

- I know what I need to do to achieve my targets and goals
- I know my strengths and weaknesses
- I can talk about what I have done well in
- I can talk about mine and other people's progress

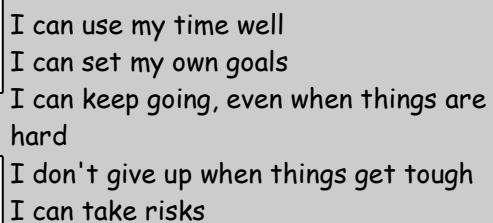

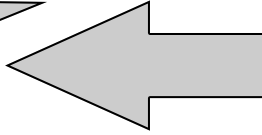

Team Worker

- I can work well with the people in my team
- I can be a good team player
- I can help lead a team

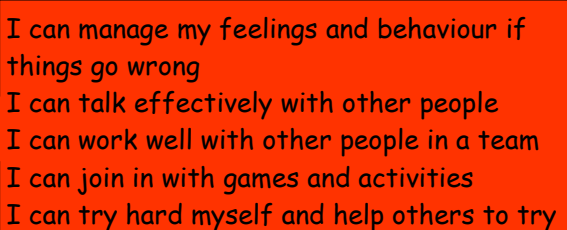

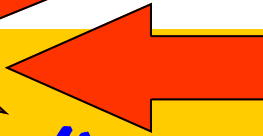

Self Manager

- I can use my time well
- I can set my own goals
- I can keep going, even when things are hard
- I don't give up when things get tough
- I can take risks

Effective Participator

- I can manage my feelings and behaviour if things go wrong
- I can talk effectively with other people
- I can work well with other people in a team
- I can join in with games and activities
- I can try hard myself and help others to try

