

There is such a strong, guided sense of purpose in the school that is shown in the attitude and application of the staff and pupils. I was made so welcomed and I felt a valued addition to the activities in the school from the moment I walked in. The children's ability to participate and willingness to take on new activities and techniques was both heartening and a real pleasure.

There was a real sense of "This is the ways schools are supposed to be" in the way children enjoy the excellent opportunities presented to them.

Thanks

Tony Wilson
Storyteller