Brent Deputy and Assistant Headteachers' Annual Conference

Thursday, 23rd of June and Friday, 24th of June

Venue: Hunton Park Hotel, Essex Lane, Kings Langley WD4 8PN

Joys and Challenges of Leadership

The Brent Deputy and Assistant Heads' Annual Conference 2016 provides a truly magical approach to dealing with the challenges and joys of leadership. Through exploring a number of important topics under the broad theme of 'Leadership', the conference will provide inspiration and challenge, as well as an opportunity to have fun and learn a few magic tricks that will make the children back at your school think that you are even more amazing than you already are!

The residential conference will provide you with a great opportunity to network and gain advice from peers as well as relax and have fun!

Bookings must be made via our website:

www.bspcpd.london (course code: BSP 15/116)

- BSP members £430 (+VAT) for full programme, meals and accommodation
- Non-members £860 (+VAT) for full programme, meals and accommodation

Objectives for the two days

The conference will enable participants to:

- gain updates and an understanding related to the current educational climate
- build partnerships with other leaders to support your professional evolution
- learn a range of innovative strategies to add to your leadership skills
- promote positivity in the next steps of your leadership
- learn how to express your inner magic!

Profiles

Slightly Unusual. Ever watched an illusionist and wondered how is that done?! Now it is your chance to learn how... The Slightly Unusual Group has developed a number of team building exercises based around illusions and performing the art of magic. After watching a magic show, imagine everyone working together to learn a series of illusions and then performing them in front of everybody in a 'magic-off'! This is the fun but it is used as a valuable tool to assist people with their management and leadership skills... but that wasn't as much fun to describe!

Farzana Aldridge. Farzana joined the Brent Schools Partnership two years ago as the Strategic Director. She came with a strong track record of working with schools and for schools to enable them to build upon their previous best. Since moving to the BSP full-time in December 2015 the pace of change and the expansion of services has grown significantly. Farzana is introducing a number of new initiatives to the BSP's range of services.

Sylvie Libson. Sylvie has worked in Brent for most of her career. She is Executive Headteacher at three primary schools in Brent and is among the borough's most committed headteachers. She has been recognised in the Queen's birthday honours list with an OBE. Sylvie is Head of Oakington Manor Primary School in Wembley, executive head at Furness Primary School and Sudbury Primary School and has been awarded an Order of the British Empire (OBE). She has over 25 years of teaching experience in the borough and is renowned for confronting challenging situations with a clear vision.

Simon Pile. Simon has been working in schools for 23 years and have been at Anson Primary School for 15 years. He has been Year Leader, Science Co-ordinator, Assessment Manager, Computing Co-ordinator, all during his time at Anson. He has been the Assistant Headteacher for the past three years. He is an Apple Distinguished Educator and delivers presentations across the country. If anyone is the juggler extraordinaire it is him!

Georghia Ellinas. Globe Education works with schools throughout the UK and internationally to bring Shakespeare's language, stories and characters to students of all ages and abilities. Students can engage with a range of workshops, study days, interactive storytelling performances and bespoke projects. These can be undertaken at the Globe Theatre or in schools.

Queens Park Rangers - Work in the Community Trust. Jesse Foyle, the Education Manager will speak about QPR's work with schools and community groups. There has been a huge investment from the Premier League and DfE so this could be a great opportunity for your school to be involved.

Raphael Moss. Raphael is approaching the end of his second year of headship at Elsley Primary. Having previously been Assistant Head and Deputy Head in other Brent schools, he is happy to share and explore some of the factors which draw leaders towards, or scare people away from headship, reasons for taking the plunge into headship and 'what life is like from the other side'.
