

Baginton Fields School

"Working Together for Outstanding Achievement"

Donation to Baginton Fields School from Galliford Try Construction PLC.

Alan Jones, Public Liasion Officer, approached Simon Grant Headteacher offering the school a "lasting legacy" in the form of a donation to purchase an "Eye Gaze".

Eye Gaze technology allows students with complex special educational needs to access and interact with motivating software simply by looking at the screen. The technology responds to the student's eye movements making it particularly valuable to those students who have physical disabilities.

The presentation of a £1735 donation Alan Jones on Friday 20th May was attended by Jim Cunningham MP who readily accepted an invitation to visit the school and see Ethan, a Year 12 student, demonstrate Eye Gaze technology.

Simon Grant said "we are particularly grateful to Galliford Try for their generous donation that will enable us to make this very effective technology more regularly available to students who have difficulty accessing technology by conventional means".
