REVISION HISTORY

Version	Revision Date	Next review due	Summary of Changes (and author)
1.0	Spring 2013	Spring 2016	Agreed C&P 29.4.13

Principles

In fulfilling the legal obligations cited below, we are guided by nine principles:

Principle 1: All learners are of equal value

We see all learners and potential learners, and their parents and carers, as of equal value:-

- whether or not they are disabled
- whatever their ethnicity, culture, national origin or national status
- whatever their gender and gender identity
- whatever their religious or non-religious affiliation or faith background
- whatever their sexual identity

Principle 2: We recognise and respect difference

Treating people equally (Principle 1 above) does not necessarily involve treating them all the same. Our policies, procedures and activities must not discriminate but must nevertheless take account of differences of life-experience, outlook and background, and in the kinds of barrier and disadvantage which people may face, in relation to:-

- disability, so that reasonable adjustments are made
- ethnicity, so that different cultural backgrounds and experiences of prejudice are recognised
- gender, so that the different needs and experiences of girls and boys, and women and men, are recognised
- religion, belief or faith background
- sexual identity

Principle 3: We foster positive attitudes and relationships, and a shared sense of cohesion and belonging

We intend that our policies, procedures and activities should promote:-

- positive attitudes towards disabled people, good relations between disabled and non-disabled people, and an absence of harassment of disabled people
- positive interaction, good relations and dialogue between groups and communities different from each other in terms of ethnicity, culture, religious affiliation, national origin or national status, and an absence of prejudice-related bullying and incidents
- mutual respect and good relations between boys and girls, and women and men, and an absence of sexual and homophobic harassment

Principle 4: We observe good equalities practice in staff recruitment, retention and development

We ensure that policies and procedures should benefit all employees and potential employees, for example in recruitment and promotion, and in continuing professional development:-

- whether or not they are disabled
- whatever their ethnicity, culture, religious affiliation, national origin or national status
- whatever their gender and sexual identity, and with full respect for legal rights relating to pregnancy and maternity

Principle 5: We aim to reduce and remove inequalities and barriers that already exist

In addition to avoiding or minimising possible negative impacts of our policies, we take opportunities to maximise positive impacts by reducing and removing inequalities and barriers that may already exist between:-

- disabled and non-disabled people
- people of different ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- girls and boys, women and men

Principle 6: We consult and involve widely

We engage with a range of groups and individuals to ensure that those who are affected by a policy or activity are consulted and involved in the design of new policies, and in the review of existing ones. We consult and involve:-

- disabled people as well as non-disabled people from a range of ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- both women and men, and girls and boys
- Gay people as well as straight

Principle 7: Society as a whole should benefit

We intend that our policies and activities should benefit society as a whole, both locally and nationally, by fostering greater social cohesion, and greater participation in public life of:-

- disabled people as well as non-disabled
- people of a wide range of ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- both women and men, girls and boys
- gay people as well as straight

Principle 8: We base our practices on sound evidence

We maintain and publish quantitative and qualitative information about our progress towards greater equality in relation to:-

- disability
- ethnicity, religion and culture
- gender

Principle 9: Objectives

We formulate and publish specific and measurable objectives, based on the evidence we have collected and published (principle 8) and the engagement in which we have been involved (principle 7), in relation to:-

- disability
- ethnicity, religion and culture
- gender

We recognise that the actions resulting from a policy statement such as this are what make a difference.

Every three years, accordingly, we draw up an action plan within the framework of the overall school improvement plan and processes of self-evaluation, setting out the specific equality objectives we shall pursue. The objectives which we identify take into account national and local priorities and issues, as appropriate.

We keep our equality objectives under review and report annually on progress towards achieving them.

School context

Alderman Pounder Infant School is an average sized infant school with a 26 place nursery. The school is situated close to the Nottinghamshire/ Derbyshire border in a large suburban area and is one of three schools (within close proximity) which serve the Chilwell West ward of Nottingham. The ward overall has a higher than average degree of deprivation, but the school's catchment area is mainly private housing with some local authority housing.

The school deprivation indicator is higher than national averages (0.21).

Alderman Pounder enjoys a good reputation which results in enrolment of many out of catchment pupils and the school is regarded as an integral and important part of the wider community.

Overall, most pupils' attainment on entry to our nursery is average however our new tracking system shows that as the catchment area widens levels of attainment on entry are beginning to fall, specifically in social and communication aspects.

The school roll is increasing but is not yet at full capacity.

We have children from a rich variety of backgrounds; welcoming children from families at St John's College (a local theological college), Nottingham University (including many students from overseas) and a local MOD army camp. The diverse mix of children from different cultures and socioeconomic backgrounds enriches our school. Some of our overseas pupils arrive with little or no English. They tend to be children of research students at the university. These children these lead to 4.5% of pupils being transient, 22% of our pupils are from ethnic minority groups, with 7.3% of pupils having EAL. 11.6% of pupils have SEN.

The school is in a Sure Start ward and several of our parents access the designated Children's Centre.

Mission Statement

Equality of opportunity encapsulates our provision of quality and excellence for all in order to promote the highest possible standards of achievement. This equality of opportunity applies to all members of the school community- pupils, staff, governors, parents and visitors from the community. It is a fundamental principle of the school's policies that all people should be valued. The schools aims are designed to ensure that the school meets the needs of all, taking account of gender, ethnicity, culture, religion, sexual orientation, age, disability and social circumstances. It is important that in the school we meet the diverse needs of pupils to ensure inclusion for all and that all pupils are prepared for full participation in society. Alderman Pounder takes steps to:-

- Promote equality of opportunity
- Promote racial equality and good race relations
- Oppose all forms of prejudice and discrimination

All members of the school, staff and governing body have the responsibility of implementing this policy.

Legal Framework

This policy has been developed in response to the Equality Act 2010 and replaces all previous policies relating to Race Equality, Gender Equality and Disability Equality. The policy has been developed to ensure that the school:-

- Eliminates unlawful discrimination, harassment, victimisation and other prohibited conduct
- Advances equality of opportunity between those who have a protected characteristic and those who do not
- Fosters good relations between those who have a protected characteristic and those who do not

The Curriculum/Teaching and Learning

This policy should be read in conjunction with the school's curriculum policy and the schools inclusion policy.

Our curriculum seeks to ensure we offer:-

- Breadth and balance for all;
- Appropriate levels of expectation and genuine challenge;
- Relevance, continuity and progression in learning.

Programmes of study and teaching methods are tailored to the wide range of needs, interests and aspirations of our pupils. The staff have high expectations of all pupils and ensure that, wherever possible, pupils are found means of access to the curriculum and given opportunities to succeed.

Topics and work is revised each year to take into account the make up of the schools current cohort. Different cultures and festivals are celebrated in individual classes to ensure that all pupils feel valued and have a sense of belonging. Resources are being reviewed to ensure they reflect the diversity of the school, community and wider society.

Attainment and achievement data is collected termly with a close emphasis being places on targeted groups. SEN (school action and school action plus), FSM, BME, EAL, Army families and Vulnerable families are monitored separately to ensure that any 'gap' are being narrowed.

Ethos and Organisation

Equality and diversity principles will run through all day to day practices and they are embedded in all policies. Careful attention will be given to the following areas to ensure no stakeholders are disadvantaged due to their ethnicity, gender, disability, sexual orientation and age:-

- Admissions, induction and attendance
- Pupils' progress, attainment and achievement
- Pupils' personal development, welfare and well-being (linking to anti-bullying and safeguarding)
- Care, guidance and support
- Parental/carer involvement
- Working with the wider community and community cohesion
- Behaviour, discipline and exclusions (linking to SEAL)
- Teaching styles and strategies
- Staff recruitment, retention and professional development
- Inclusion (linking to curriculum, participation etc)

This section will be closely linked to the Guiding Principles section of this policy.

Addressing prejudice and prejudice-related bullying

The school has a legal obligation to eliminate discrimination and harassment and victimisation, as well as the duty to foster positive relations between groups and individuals. Alderman Pounder has committed to working towards the Stephen Lawrence Education Standard. All hate incidents are reported as part of the common monitoring report and through the head teachers termly report. A hate incident is defined as:

"...any incident which is perceived by the victim or any other person to be motivated by the offender's prejudice against people because of their age, disability, gender, race, religion, sexual orientation or other reason."

All incidents will be reported to the local authority and the community police officer immediately.

Roles and Responsibilities

The governing body is responsible for ensuring the school complies with the legislation, and that the policy, the school's practice and related procedures are implemented and regularly reviewed and monitored.

The Chair of Governors will be the named link person for the implementation of this and this will be reviewed through the curriculum and personal sub-committee.

The Head Teacher is responsible for:-

- The overall implementation of the policy on a day to day basis
- Taking appropriate action in any cases of unlawful discrimination

- Ensuring that all staff are aware of their responsibilities under the legislation and that they are given appropriate training and support to meet these responsibilities

All staff have a responsibility to keep up-to-date with equalities legislation relevant to their work, and must support the ethos of the school through their actions. They should undertake all their work activities mindful of equalities issues, including planning, assessment, and individual support for pupils and groups of pupils. They should demonstrate an awareness of specific individual needs and promote respect for diversity. They should know how to respond to and deal with any prejudice-related incidents which occur.

Information and Resources

This policy is reviewed annually by Governors and staff. There is also a copy available on Fronter. Equalities information is collected annually in the information pack to school. This is to inform the school if any additional adaptations should be made to the school building or to inform us if we need to alter the ways we communicate (eg hearing impairment family now use text system).

Staff Development and Training

Staff across all sections of the community (teaching, support, mid-days, office staff etc) will have their professional development needs met in relation to this agenda. Race Equality training will take place every two years and the equalities action plan (which is part of the SIP) will be audited termly.

All new staff will be made aware of the schools equality policy and will have access to all other equalities related policies as part of their induction to Fronter.

Race Awareness Training for all staff took place in May 2012

Breaches of the policy

All complaints are recorded and dealt with following the schools complaints policy.
