Special Educational Needs (SEN) Information Report for Parents

We hope that you find this report useful. If you have any further questions, then please do not hesitate to contact Miss Syddall, the school's designated member of staff for Special Educational Needs

What should I do if I think my child has a Special Educational Need or Disability?

If you have any concerns regarding your child's development, please speak initially to your child's class teacher. Further discussions may then be arranged with the school's SENCO and, if appropriate, referrals may be made to outside agencies for further advice and support.

If you have a concern related to a medical or health issue then you may wish to seek advice from your doctor or health visitor.

What is the school ethos/approach to SEN and Disability?

St Columba's is a fully inclusive school and welcomes children with special educational needs and disabilities. All children with identified special educational needs or disabilities will receive additional support from staff within school and we will work alongside outside agencies to deliver specific intervention programmes.

We are committed to working alongside the child, their family and outside agencies to ensure that all children at our school are able to access their entitlement to a full education.

How will I know how my child is doing in school?

Parents are kept well-informed about their child's progress. All parents are invited to attend Parents' Evenings in the autumn and spring terms, where progress and targets will be discussed with the child's class teacher. In the summer term, all parents will receive a detailed written report for their child and a drop-in session is arranged for any parents who wish to discuss this report in more detail. IEPs (Individual Education Plans) are written for all children with special educational needs and these are discussed with both parents and pupils.

Those children who have a Statement of Special Educational Needs or an Education, Health, Care Plan will have one formal review a year, where all agencies involved with the child will meet together to discuss their progress and set new targets.

What support will there be for my child's overall well-being?

St Columba's monitors pupils' well-being carefully and staff within the school will act on any concerns that they have regarding a child's well-being.

Alongside the PSHCE curriculum, which is delivered to children in all year groups in school, a range of interventions are offered by the school's learning mentor, on both an individual and group basis. Outside agencies also come into school to work with children where appropriate. Parental permission is always sought before any of these interventions commence.

Support is offered for parents, in the form of workshops, which include curriculum drop-ins and courses such as Triple P Parenting.

How will I be involved in discussions about, planning for, and involvement in, my child's education?

Parents of children with identified special educational needs are fully involved in reviewing their child's progress against set targets and in setting new targets through termly meetings. They will also be kept fully informed about the provision for their child within school and support and advice will be given to parents about strategies to use at home.

All children with a Statement of Special Educational Needs or an Education, Health, Care Plan will have an annual review which will involve families in planning appropriate provision for their child and setting suitable targets based on their progress and individual needs.

How does the school involve children and young people in their education and in the decision making process?

Where appropriate, all children are involved in setting their own targets for development. Those children with an IEP are involved in the reviewing process and their ideas are taken into consideration when writing new IEPs.

Those children with a Statement of Special Educational Needs or an Education, Health, Care Plan will be actively involved in the annual review meeting, where they will help to review their progress over the year, set new targets for development, consider their long-term aspirations and identify how they best be supported in school.

How should complaints regarding SEN provision be made and how will they be dealt with?

All complaints are dealt with in line with the school's complaints procedure which is available from the school office on request. Initially, parents are encouraged to raise any concerns with the child's class teacher to see if their concerns can be addressed. If parents are not satisfied the complaint should be referred to the Head Teacher. The final step would be to refer the complaint to the Chair of Governors if it has not been resolved to a satisfactory level. The Governing Body sub-committee for SEN will then deal with the complaint.

How do I get a copy of the school SEN policy?

The school's SEN policy is available on the school website. A hard copy is also available from the school office on request.

Who do I contact for further information?
