Ocker Hill Infant and Nursery School - e-safety Newsletter

Did you buy PC, laptop or tablet for your child/ children this Christmas?

Do you intend to use it to connect to the Internet?

Will your children use the computer or tablet?

Are you aware of the dangers...?

The internet provides an amazing opportunity for learning, exploration, entertainment and communication but there are risks associated with it.

There are potential threats such as bullying or unwanted contact, many of which are regularly reported in the media. There are some things you would not like your child to see. This should not stop you from allowing your children to use the Internet but you need to understand the risks and how to minimise them.

What can you do?

There are a number of websites you can visit, many of them listed on our school website e-safety page:

<http://www.schooljotter.com/showpage.php?id=61127>

And also valuable help is available at:

<http://www.theparentzone.co.uk/>

You can talk to our Computing Co-Ordinator, Miss Bailey. If you would like to discuss a particular website, come and visit her and ask. However she will shortly be running e safety and computing workshops where she will hope to help you and educate you further.
