

FREE CONFERENCE FOR PARENTS AND CARERS

New ways of working in CAMHS and the Neurodevelopmental Service and Dimensions of Health and Well-being

Tuesday 14 March, 9.30am - 2.30pm, Coventry Transport Museum

We have two big developments to tell you about and hope you will join us for a day conference which will include presentations from all the new treatment pathways at CAMHS and in the Neurodevelopmental Service. By the end of the day you will have a better idea of how the service will look from May 2017 and you will get some tips about how to support mental health problems in young people.

Dimensions of Health and Well-being will be freely available to all local people to help them to find out more about the support available for young people's well-being and mental health. It has been developed in conjunction with parents and carers, referrers and our clinical staff.

Arrive at 9 (for a 9.30 start) with presentations until 2.30pm. We know that many of you will be doing the school run so it will start and end on time. If you can want to stay to chat to us we will have some clinicians around until 3.30pm.
