

Fred Barber

I recently became a governor when my son started in Reception with a view to contributing to the community where my family live and work. I am passionate about education and believe wholeheartedly in the transformative power of learning. I believe it is our job as a school to ensure every student is given the opportunity, the care and the support they need to realise and harness this power to give them the best possible start in life. I am a teacher and the Head of Computing at Pilton Community College across the road, where I have the pleasure of teaching many students who previously attended Pilton Infants'. My primary role as a governor is to advise and guide on the ever growing field of ICT as well as to bring a parent's perspective to the meetings.
