

Collection

Most rainwater falls back into rivers, lakes and oceans which starts the whole cycle again. The rest either falls into pipes or on houses, the rest, falls into the ground which we can access as groundwater.

I hope you are no longer confused if you were in the beginning.....

Fun fact!

The water cycle never stops, that doesn't mean water has a massive cycle race! It's still very fun to learn about!

Well explained.

