Elm Park Primary School

Sports Funding Report 2016/17

It has been recognized that the vast majority of clubs still cater for junior age pupils and a focus for the next academic year will be to look at how to increase provision for our Infant pupils.

As well as afterschool clubs, children have been provided with opportunities to participate in adventurous activities in Years 5 & 6 during their residential visits to Stubbers and Sealyham activity centres. All of these activities were led by specialist instructors. Children participated in many activities they wouldn't usually get the chance to do and for many of them, conquered fears during character and team building activities.

After School Club Type	Boys	Girls	Total
Quadkids Athletics	15	15	30
Boys/Girls Football	14	12	26

Yoga	0	10	10
Total No. of pupils	130	154	284

There are still some clubs that seem to be predominantly girl or boy oriented, yoga and gymnastics for example are more heavily subscribed to by girls, whereas football training is predominantly boys. However it has been pleasing to see the numbers of boys rising interested in playing netball (this has been in the main due to a Higher Level Teaching Assistant's & School Business Manager's very enthusiastic approach to teaching netball) and gymnastics, as well as a good take up of girls enjoying Kwik Cricket sessions this year.

When evaluating the impact of the primary school sports funding on pupils' sporting capability, success, the impacts upon general lifestyle, dietary knowledge and physical wellbeing, it has been evident that we have made improvements in the following areas within the curriculum:

- The increase in participation rates in all curricular sports lessons
- Our continued collaboration with the sports collective, is providing the children with the opportunity to take part in a wider range of competitive sports for all key stages, both genders and inclusive games for those less able to access sport.
- The specialist coaching of year 6 pupils has given our students a firmer foundation for success, understanding the necessary sport skills and rules to the extent that they have been able to deliver them in their won class sport sessions.

In addition, when evaluating the impact of the primary school sport funding on pupils' extra-curricular sport, it has been evident that we have made improvements upon the following areas outside the curriculum:

- The increase in participation rates in all extra-curricular sports
- We have now 42% of children participating in extra-curricular sports clubs
- Yoga and Dodgeball have all been introduced as extra clubs this year

Evaluating the school's delivery of Physical Education

When evaluating the impact of how PE is being delivered at Elm Park Primary, it is evident that we have achieved the following areas of success within and outside of the curriculum:

- Learning conversations and lesson visits have taken place with members of teaching staff. This has highlighted individual good practice as well as overall strengths and areas for development in the teaching of P.E.
- Explore how to target and support pupils who are gifted in a particular sport within and out of school

Opportunities for next year to be proposed are:

- Additional CPD training for specific sports that teachers are less confident teaching e.g gymnastics, dance and football.
- Equipment for specific sports to help train for competition e.g. wooden hockey sticks, throwing equipment.
- Host sporting events for sports collective.
- PE lead to explore 'A Mile a Day' scheme where all children take part in daily exercise that equates to one mile.
