This is an exciting opportunity to undertake a one-year teacher-training programme. Successful completion of the course will lead to the award of qualified teacher status (QTS) and will include a post-graduate certificate in education (PGCE) certified by Newman University or the University of Warwick.

We are looking for enthusiastic, dynamic and energetic individuals who have the potential to become outstanding teachers with the drive and motivation to make a difference. We offer a highly successful, bespoke training programme and have an excellent track record and a wealth of experience in training new teachers.

Are you:

- Passionate about sharing your expertise, experiences, and enthusiasm with young people?
- Committed to supporting all students to fulfil their potential?
- Able to work closely and collaboratively with a wide range of people?
- Conscientious, resilient and hardworking?
- Ambitious and eager to take on additional responsibilities in the future?

The training:

We will be working alongside five local secondary schools and six local primary schools as part of St. Peter's Teaching School Alliance. School-led training will be based at one of the schools within our alliance for the vast majority of the academic year, with a short placement in the Spring term in another school. To offer balance of theory and practice the programme is supported by input from a University.

We have places available to train via salaried* and non-salaried School Direct Training Programmes.

Those wishing to train via this route need to have at least three years' experience of working in a graduate profession or have extensive experience of working with young people. Recent experience in the education sector would be advantageous.

In order to apply for a place on School Direct, you must have:

- A UK undergraduate degree or a recognised equivalent qualification in the subject you wish to teach (or a closely related discipline).
- A GCSE grade C or above in English and Mathematics.
