

Consultation on plans for supporting children with SEND

Bradford Council is consulting the public on a new model for delivering services for children and young people across the district who have special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND).

Consultation on plans for supporting children with SEND

Tell us what you think about our plans to change the way we support children with Special Educational Needs or Disability (SEND)

We plan to make changes to the way SEND teaching and support services are organised.

We want children with SEND to do better in school and to have the chance to live a better life.

This will help them to have greater opportunities, be more independent and have better emotional health.

Over the last 2 years, the number of children and young people who have been put forward to be assessed for SEND has gone up 60%. Many of these children have more complex special educational needs.

This means we have to find the best way of using the money and resources we have.

How can I have my say?

You can tell us what you think of our plans by visiting:
