Dear Parents/Carers

St Anne's School and Sixth Form Art Competition

We would like to invite your child to take part in an art project at home which has been organised by St Anne's School and Sixth Form.

Our school has been invited together with a number of other primary schools within our local community to participate in this exciting art competition.

Pupils are invited to create a piece of art at home in any form they wish e.g. painting, sculpture, collage etc. based around this year's theme of 'All about Me'.

We can enter a piece of art from each class to go through to the final. The judges will include Emma Wilson, a former Guardian Designer of the Year and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts who founded The Artistic Spectrum in 2013.

If your child would like to take part in the competition they must bring their entry to the school office on Monday 21 May so we can select a piece of art from each class on that day to go through to the final at St Anne's School.

Please ensure your child's name and class is noted on the reverse of their picture or on the bottom if they have made a sculpture.

We hope you can take part in this exciting competition and we look forward to seeing all your amazing entries.

Yours sincerely

Mrs Atkinson
Deputy Head
