Dear Parent/Carer,

We are introducing an exciting new tool, called Eedi, to provide you with up-to-date information on your child's progress in maths at school.

Set as homework, Eedi's intelligent quizzes provide parents with topic-based reports rather than end-of-term or end-of-year reports. With Eedi, problems can be caught early and high achievement nurtured and encouraged.

Eedi helps parents and children understand where to focus their time and efforts all year round, meaning less cramming for exams!

Your child will have weekly quizzes on Eedi. To access the quizzes visit eedi.co.uk/login and enter your child's unique username and password. Your child can also complete the quizzes on the partner website diagnosticquestions.com or the Diagnostic Questions App for mobile devices.

To access your child's first report, visit eedi.co.uk/onboarding, select 'Parent' and then 'Next' and enter your unique parent code – please note, Eedi is not viewable on mobile devices presently but we're working on it. You will find your unique parent code when you click on your child's profile on their account.

We hope that you and your child will benefit from Eedi. Should you have any questions please direct them to the team at Eedi, who can be contacted in the first instance at parents@eedi.co.uk.

Please don't hesitate to ask myself or your child's teacher if you have any further questions.

Kind regards,

Jack Corson
Assistant Head Teacher for Curriculum and Assessment
